2008 NATIONAL BIKE SUMMIT

MARCH 4 - 6, 2008

Putting Bicyclists in the Seat of Power

Putting Bicyclists in the Seat of Power

The legendary polka dot jersey is given to the best climber in the Tour de France. Become a champion of bicycling by climbing Capitol Hill, March 4-6 as a participant at the 2008 National Bike Summit in Washington, DC. Pack your suit and discover the power you have to influence national transportation, energy, environment and health policy for the better: For bicycling.

Experience the National Bike Summit:

- Enjoy two-and-a-half unique and full days of workshops, training, and meetings with members of Congress and their staff.
- Join advocates, industry leaders, and retailers to forge a new national consensus on the value of getting more people riding bikes more often.
- Present a comprehensive, actionable, national bicycling agenda to Congress.

Regular attendees will notice a small change in the agenda this year. We will start on Tuesday evening, March 4, with a dinner and speaker. Educational workshops fill Wednesday's schedule, and Thursday's Hill visits culminate with a reception on Capitol Hill. We'll still have an optional bike ride on Friday.

Climbing Capitol Hill

The National Bike Summit provides us with a unique opportunity to inform our members of Congress of the importance of bicycling, and to educate them on specific bicycling issues.

We need delegates from each and every congressional district in the United States at the National Bike Summit this year.

Educational Themes

Transportation

Recreation and Tourism

Health

Energy and the Environment

In each of these areas, we will identify key issues affecting bicyclists, the value of bicycling, and legislative priorities in Congress.
